HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 17.—In the appointment of Captain Roger W. Rowland, of New Castle, as Secretary of Property and Supplies, Pennsylvania gets a cabinet officer who didn't want the job, believe it or not. Not until seven forty five Monday night did Captain Rowland finally say yes, and a few minutes after Governor-elect Arthur H. James made the announcement to the newspaper men on Capitol Hill. Late Monday afternoon Mr. James was called and asked if he had any ABOARD THE LAWRENCE COUNTY SPECIAL ENROUTE TO HARRISBURG, Jan. 16.—It might be a picnic special, or it might be a crowd going to a world's series. It isn't either of these but the spirit on these four special Pullmans is comparable to any holiday event you might imagine.

By 11:30 the west side station of the Pennsylvania looked like it did in the old days when your Sunday school went to Rock Springs park. The boys and the girls, were gathering early and by 12 o'clock everybody was loaded. Shortly after 12 the cars were hauled to the junction and a few minutes later were hooked on to the regular eastbound express. Charles Wetmore, agent of the Pennsylvania at New Castle, is aboard first to check up the reservations and second to take care of anything that might arise. He will accompany the train into Harrisburg and return with it.

A number of the inaugural visitors on this train had intended to drive automobiles to the inaugural.

Seek Talent For 'Salute' To City

Entertainers Will Get Auditions At Senior High On January 20

New Castle's amateur entertainers will provide the program for KDKA's "Salute to New Castle" broadcast from Pittsburgh on the evening of Saturday, January 28, it was announced today.

And a call for volunteer talent—anyone who cares to apply—went out today. The volunteers are to meet for auditions at 7:30 on Friday evening, January 20 in the Senior high school auditorium.

The radio salute that night will bring to the KDKA microphone, Mayor Charles E. McGrath and several outstanding civic leaders. Among them will be Norman E. Clark, president of the Greater New Castle Association, whose first general membership drive opens February 6.

The Pittsburgh Press will carry a tie-in photographic salute to the city in its rotogravure section Sunday, January 29. Local pictures will form the display.

Pleads Guilty; Sent To Jail

Shortly before noon today Chester Tomski pleaded guilty before Alderman David Pearsall to charges of larceny of a motor vehicle and larceny of automobile registration plates and was committed to jail without bail for court action. The charges were preferred by Corporal G. F. Keck of the Pennsylvania Motor police.

Tomski was arrested Sunday night on the Butler road in possession of a stolen car and also stolen registration plates.

State's New First Lady A Mere Girl Of 23 Years

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 17.—Pennsylvania's new first lady—a mere girl of 23, though none the less a bundle of charm and personality for her youth—intends to see to it that her governor-father, Arthur H. James, retains the viewpoint of an "average American father."

Pretty, brunette Miss Dorothy James—perhaps a bit displeased with the "first lady" title, preferring instead "first daughter"—flashed a look of determination from her deep green eyes as she pledged:

"Election or no election, we're just an average American family and naturally every man wants a comfortable and relaxing home to come to after a hard day's work. Father's job is going to be an especially hard one—and I would like to be as much help as I can."

A great admirer of her predecessor.

James' Cabinet Now Complete

Three Additional Appointments Are Announced On Monday Night

"DRASTIC CUTS" IN PERSONNEL COMING

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 17.—Gov. Arthur H. James' official "inner circle" was completed today with the appointment of three additional cabinet members.

They were:
Secretary of Mines—John T. Thomas, Phillipsburg, a personal friend of Governor James and former chief deputy secretary of mines in the Fisher administration between 1927-1931.

Secretary of Property and Supplies—Capt. Roger Rowland, New Castle, president of the New Castle Refractories since 1928.

Secretary of Banking—Robert Doty, Harrisburg, now a chief deputy in the banking department with which he has been associated for many years.

Personnel Cuts Loom

In his first Harrisburg press conference, Governor James warned that "drastic cuts in personnel" would be forthcoming "as soon as we get our foot inside the door and all the way around."

Refusing to set a definite figure as to the number that would go to the political quillotine, the new chief executive indicated, however, that the number would be a "good many more" than the 2500 suggested by an interviewer.

Relief Deficit $45,000,000

At the same time, he declared that the Earle administration went out of office with a relief deficit estimated at $45,000,000 to $50,000,000 for the current biennium. This, he added, did not include the $25,000,000 appropriated at the special session of the legislature last summer.

His relief deficit estimate, Governor James said, was based upon a preliminary report by his new budget secretary, Dr. Edward B. Logan. The HARRISBURG, Jan. 17.—Superior Court Judge Arthur H. James today was sworn in as Pennsylvania's 34th governor, bringing to a close a brief four-year interim of Democratic rule and signaling the end of the state's "Little New Deal" administration.

To a cheering throng which hailed the inauguration of the former "breaker-boy" of Pennsylvania's hard coal region, the new Republican chief executive pledged his utmost to restore prosperity to the state and to banish unemployment. Relief, he said, would be divorced from politics; industry would be given new hope.

Emphasis on Employment
Placing his emphasis on employment, the newly-sworn governor told the throng of thousands before him that "I hope to see employment grow steadily until every idle man who wants a job can have one. To accomplish that, we need the aid and confidence and forbearance of business men throughout the state. The administration is going to try to help industry and, in return, industry must try to help the state." To help restore business in the state, Governor James proposed as

Charge Spanish Civilians Executed

Between 225 And 250 Machine-Gunned By Insurgents Barcelona Charges

By SAMUEL HUTSCHNECKER
International News Service Special Correspondent

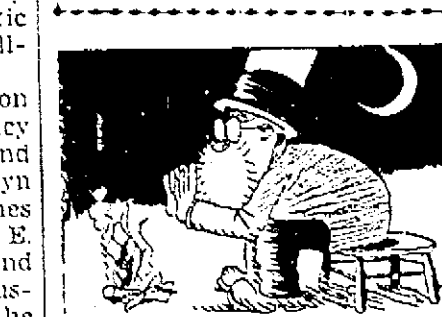

BARCELONA, Jan. 17.—Between 225 and 250 civilians were machine-gunned by insurgent troops attached to the Littoria Division in Catalonia, a Spanish government commander charged today.

The officer claimed the alleged executions were carried out after government troops abandoned Santa Coloma de Queralt, south of Gervera, a key city which was captured yesterday by Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces.

In London, the official representative of the insurgent Spanish regime scoffed at the Barcelona charges that 225 or more civilians had been executed by insurgent troops.

"That is propaganda," he said, "no civilians are ever executed without a fair trial."

Directors Of County Schools Meet Thursday

Program For Event In Shenango High School Approved By Directors

P. M. COX WILL BE IN CHARGE

Plans for the annual convention of the school directors of Lawrence county, which will take place in Shenango township high school on Thursday, were approved by the county school board at its meeting in the office of County Superintendent John C. Syling, in the Greer building, last evening.

The convention will be in session throughout the day, the morning program opening with registration at 10 o'clock. Rev. A. W. Smith of Princeton will pronounce the invocation, and music during the sessions will be furnished by the Shenango high school students. The afternoon program starts at 1:30 o'clock.

Philip M. Cox of Volant, president of the county association, will preside.

Included among the speakers will be R. W. Robinson of the Pennsylvania Department of Education, who is chief of the Bureau of Consolidation and Training; Dr. Beatty Dinit of Slippery Rock State Teachers college and D. A. Best of East McKeesport, vice president of the Pennsylvania State School Directors association. County Superintendent Syling will discuss matters of importance to the directors on new legislation and school methods.

Gigantic Theft From Subway Is Bared In New York

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Acting with lightning speed, District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey today had four suspects under arrest in the almost incredible theft of $3,300,000 in nickels from the city-owned independent subway system and his assistants were interrogating 26 others.

Twenty-six station agents without whose connivance, Dewey charged, it would not have been possible to turn back counters on the subway turnstiles to conceal the systematic looting, underwent an all night grilling in Dewey's office.

The four men under arrest on charges of forgery and conspiracy were: Henry J. Aronstein, 33, and Isadore Kasidow, both of Brooklyn and both station agents, and James J. McGovern, 28, and Charles E. Cox, also both of Brooklyn and both maintenance men. A fifth suspect was believed to have fled the city.

Suicide Verdict In Death Of Man

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 17.—A verdict of suicide was given today in the death of Lewis E. Baish, automobile salesman found with a bullet wound in his head early yesterday in the offices of the Phillips Motor Car company.

Although a revolver was found by his side, police at first believed foul play might have been involved as the office was in wild disorder, seemingly pointing to a struggle and possible robbery.

Britain Battles Political Bomb Plot

Special Police Guards Posted

Blasts Occur In Number Of Cities And Cause Some Concern

BIRMINGHAM IS SHAKEN BY BLAST

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The British government took stern measures today to stamp out an apparent political bomb plot which caused a series of explosions in various English cities.

Adopting precautions which resembled those of war-time, the government placed special police guards at every power station and reservoir in the British Empire. Cordons of guards were maintained at all electric and gas stations in London. Large squads of police patrolled the Thames river front area to prevent recurrences of the blasts there.

Redoubt precautions were redoubled in provincial regions following reports of attempts to damage the banks of the Manchester Ship Canal.

Late last night the industrial city of Birmingham was shaken by a blast which occurred in the Corporation Power station at the base of a huge water tower.

Secret alarms were broadcast to police and intelligence service members patrolling port cities to watch incoming ships of all kinds including fishing vessels.

Scotland Yard, clinging to its original theory regarding the explosions, tentatively attributed the terrorist outrages to the outlawed Irish Republican army. They pointed out that this army, the outlawed Irish Republican army, has blown up a number of customs houses along the frontier between Eire and northern Ireland recently.

Altogether eight explosions occurred, including blasts in London, Manchester, Liverpool and Belfast in northern Ireland. One man was killed and two seriously injured in Manchester.

STATE'S NEW FIRST LADY A MERE GIRL OF 23 YEARS

cor in the executive mansion, gracious Mrs. George H. Earle, Miss James reminds one a great deal of the retiring "first lady."

Both have beauty, wit, sincerity, boundless charm and keen mentality, and above all—and in a political world vastly more important than anything else—both have managed, in the midst of a world that has almost lost it, to maintain the common touch.

And with Mrs. Earle, as with the somewhat inexperienced but definitely willing Miss James, that enviable ability to mingle with the high as well as the low with the same amount of charm, is not a pose. Meeting the extremely well-liked Mrs. Earle, you can tell from her handclasp, from her cherry greeting, from the light in her eager, interested eyes, and from the bright, flashing smile on her mobile face that she loves people. Miss James possesses the same qualities.

Denies Marriage Intent

Miss James, however, has one distinct dislike—a decided distaste for housework. But that, too, she has determined to submerge as she assumes her official role of the state's hostess.

"I'll just have to learn and depend on a lot of people for a while," she remarked.

The new "first daughter," though, feels that her dislike for cooking and housekeeping is no greater than that of "any other single girl."

Hurriedly, though, she dispelled the idea that she intended to marry, denying she was even engaged.

Her hobby of dramatics, she believes, will probably keep her busy a good deal of the time. A graduate of Syracuse University, she has done considerable work in little theaters and on the radio.

Mrs. Earle, modern from the top of her curly, chestnut hair to the tip of her dainty slippers, nevertheless possesses one virtue that her successor has still to master—that of the true housekeeper.

Sewing was one of her chief enjoyments while she occupied the executive mansion. Her needle-work fashioned curtains, draperies and pillows that brightened the interior of the huge brownstone executive mansion. She even designed and made some of her own gowns.

New though she will be at the hostess question, Miss James is determined to "make a comfortable home for my father."

"I'll take care of my end," she said, determinedly, "so that he will not be bothered with petty annoyances."

JUDGE JAMES TAKES OATH AS NEW GOVERNOR

one of his first official acts the creation of a new department of commerce to bring about greater cooperation between business and government.

New Deal Scored

The New Deal, nationally as well as state, came in for pointed criticism from Pennsylvania's new chief executive who termed "over-spending" only another name for an evil philosophy of government which is as old as civilization—and which never has been known to work successfully, the theory of inflation.

"It remained for the New Deal philosophy to re-dress inflation and to renew its pump-priming," caustically commented Governor James, adding that what was needed was private, not public, pump-priming.

Governor James was sworn in at noon by Chief Justice John W. Kep- hart of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court on the main steps of the capitol. With him on the inaugural stand as he took the oath of office was the outgoing Democratic governor, George H. Earle, who made his departure from the state as the new chief executive began his inaugural address, members of the supreme and superior courts and members of the general assembly.

Swears In Lewis

Previous to his own inauguration, Governor James officiated at the inauguration of Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis in the senate chamber, thus becoming the first governor in the state's history to perform that function.

One of the largest crowds in inaugural history thronged Harrisburg to witness the return of the Keystone state to its Republican moorings after one solitary lapse in half a century of G.O.P. predominance.

Sixty-eight special trains poured their thousands into the capitol to augment the thousands of others who came by automobile, bus, and plane. The inaugural parade, replete with its traditional color and pageantry, wended its way for hours past the inaugural stand from which Governor James reviewed it. An estimated 35,000 took part in the procession.

Both the inauguration ceremonies and the parade which followed were broadcast over a statewide radio hookup. Overhead, national guard planes roared an aerial greeting to the new chief executive.

Takes Up Duties

Once sworn in and the inaugural parade completed, Governor James lost no time in taking over the reins of government. At the governor's Earle relinquished. One of his first official acts as governor was to send to the senate his cabinet appointments, three of which he announced last night.

Following that Governor James was host at the executive mansion at a buffet supper with the inauguration day ceremonies being topped off by the inaugural ball, which Governor James and his daughter, Miss Dorothy James, the state's new first lady, would lead the grand march.

Governor James came into office facing almost identically the same problems which confronted his Democratic predecessor in 1935 when the election of Governor Earle on the heels of the Roosevelt landslide of '32 brought a temporary end to 44 years of Republican rule. These problems were unemployment, relief, anthracite, and taxation.

JAMES' CABINET NOW COMPLETE

" cursory examination" made by Logan, however, was "by no means definite," the governor added.

To Talk To Citizens

Revealing that he would inaugurate a series of radio talks concerning an accounting of his "stewardship," Governor James said he would probably go on the air Friday night in a discussion of the state's financial condition.

Laughingly, however, he declined to designate his talks as "fireside chats," adding that he believed they were "pretty well burned out."

Governor James stated he does not plan to go before the new legislature until he sends in his regular budget message in about two weeks, but indicated several "stewardship" accounts would be given the people of Pennsylvania during that space of time.

They still look vainly for somebody to take Will Rogers' place. He got laughs without mentioning his wife or relatives.

mining, industrial or agricultural products... A market once lost is doubly hard to get back... We want no trade fences, no economic barriers around our state.

"Over-spending and over-taxation have dried up the wells from which the waters of industrial life should flow... Business in Pennsylvania must not attempt to escape proper responsibility to its employers, proper methods and proper working conditions... It must not try to dodge reasonable taxation... We will have no return to overloads of industry during my administration... Neither will we have rule by over-lords of labor.

"It is squarely up to the leaders of industry, of labor, of commerce and of agriculture to band themselves into an army of progress... we have all the materials at our fingertips... we do not even lack funds with which to begin, for idle money is filling almost every bank in the state.

"Relief must be humanized... it must be prompt and adequate... honestly and fairly administered... and it must come out of policies which every person in Pennsylvania who needs relief will get it... there is no thought of curtailing relief to the unfortunate.

"I have requested your new attorney general (Claude T. Reno, Allentown)... to draw up a bill re-nouncing the anti-macing laws which were secretly repealed two years ago... this bill makes it a penal offense for any one to demand money for political purposes from any person who receives money from the state... that bill... will go a long way toward stamping out the political relief racket.

"For the past few years we have seen executive interference and domination of legislative and judicial branches carried to a point which put us on the brink of disaster... I reiterate my pledge of not permitting the executive hand to interfere with the functions of either of the two other branches.

"I have called for little in the way of new legislation... I wish to proceed slowly, to know in each case exactly where we are going before we plunge ahead... Pennsylvania has hastily skipped too many legislative grades in recent years... my failure to mention... of home rule, highways, the liquor traffic, or other special issues, is not intended to minimize their importance."

Stole Clothing And Gasoline, Tomski Tells Detectives Chief

Pending arraignment, State Motor Police and City Detectives' Chief Ray Showalter today were delving into the movements of Chester Tomski, about 21, this city, who was apprehended Sunday night by motor police in possession of an auto owned by Rufus C. Patterson, stolen last week from a local public garage.

Showalter stated today that Tomski had confessed to having stolen a sweater, lumber jacket, trousers and hat from R. W. Phillips residence, 711 Brooklyn avenue. The detectives' chief said also that Tomski confessed to having stolen gasoline from trucks parked along state highways.

Tomski was apprehended Sunday night on the Butler road by Corporal Keck and Private Richter after the city detective bureau had learned Tomski was seen in the Seventh ward in a auto which answered the description of Patterson's car.

Thomas McCormick

Thomas McCormick, aged 74 years, of Princeton, R. D. 4, passed away in the New Castle hospital this morning at 4:30 o'clock, after two weeks of illness.

Mr. McCormick, born in Scotland, son of James and Marjorie Daugherty McCormick, was brought to Lawrence county, Pennsylvania, when a boy four years old. This was his home ever since and for most of his life he was a farmer.

Surviving are the following brothers and sisters: Patrick, Charles, Hugh, Daniel, Mrs. Catherine Fee and Mrs. Agnes Hege, of this place, and Mrs. Patrick Harrigan of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The body has been removed to the McGonigle funeral home, this city, where friends will be received by the family tonight and Wednesday night from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Thursday morning at 10 o'clock the high mass of requiem will be celebrated in St. Mary's church, cars leaving McGonigle's at 9:30. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

H. Joseph Schwartz

H. Joseph Schwartz, aged 57 years, of 411 East Lincoln avenue, died this morning at 8 o'clock in the Veterans hospital at Aspinwall, according to the sad word received here.

Mr. Schwartz, who had been ill for the past four months, died from a heart condition.

He was born in Ilion, N. Y. For 20 years prior to coming to New Castle three years ago he was in business in Altoona, Pa. Since moving to this community he was associated with J. F. Perelman as assistant manager of the New Castle Loan company.

When 17 years of age he enlisted in the U. S. army and served three years in the Philippines during the Spanish-American war. He later organized and became the first commander of the Spanish-American War Veterans, Altoona camp. After coming to New Castle he joined the Daniel Leasure camp. He was a member of Temple Israel.

His wife, Elizabeth R. Schwartz, two children, Mrs. Rosalind Leskovs of Altoona and Leon M. Schwartz at home, and two granddaughters survive. He also leaves his mother, in Ilion, N. Y.

Funeral services will take place Thursday at 2:30 p. m. from the J. B. Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter. Interment will be in the Temple Israel cemetery plot.

Mrs. Harry B. Parry

Mrs. Beulah Parry, 47, wife of Harry B. Parry, died suddenly at 2 p. m. Friday, January 13, at her home at 193 North Howard avenue, Salem, Ohio, of a cerebral hemorrhage following three months ill health.

Mrs. Parry was born at Warsaw, Ohio, on March 20, 1891, and had lived in Salem for ten years, previous to which she had lived in New Castle. She leaves, besides her husband, four daughters, Mrs. Guy Jones of Dayton, O., Mrs. Edward Moffett of Salem, Ohio, and Maxine and Betty at home, five grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Ross Fowler of Mineral City, Ohio; two brothers, William Carr of Mineral City, Ohio, and Verd Carr of Burdett, Indiana.

Rev. Carl Ansum, pastor of the Methodist church in Salem, conducted the funeral service on Monday, January 16, at the Arbuthnot-Pearce funeral home. Burial was in the Hope cemetery.

CABINET PLACE GIVEN ROWLAND MONDAY NIGHT

week ago in Wilkes-Barre, not for political reasons but because Governor James thought he would make an acceptable man for the post. At that time Captain Rowland refused the job, but Governor James declined to take his refusal.

On Friday, a group of New Castle men wired a friend of Captain Rowland's in Pittsburgh asking him if he would use his good offices to induce Rowland to change his mind. It may have been this telegram, it may have been the pressure of the new governor, at any rate he changed his mind late Monday evening and said he would take it.

At seven forty-five Governor James called the newspaper men in and personally announced the acceptance of Captain Rowland. Other cabinet appointments had been made by J. Paul Pedigo, the new secretary to the governor.

Heads Delegation Here

The appointment of Captain Rowland gives added dignity to the Lawrence county delegation in the inaugural parade today. Two weeks ago it was decided in New Castle that Lawrence county would parade and about 200 people are here. Today the delegation will be headed not only by the county chairman but by the Secretary of Property and Supplies.

The department of Property and Supplies is one of the most important in the cabinet. Through this department go millions of dollars worth of orders. No small purchases are made by the secretary of property and supplies. He orders in million dollar lots and in the hands of an inefficient official the state would suffer heavy losses and the party responsible for him would be subject to criticism.

In selecting Captain Rowland, Governor James did so because he believed he could do the job. No other reason. Politically Captain Rowland did not rate the job, for he is the chairman of a small county, practically a newcomer in politics, but this James administration is determined to have in the cabinet and in the official family men of integrity and business ability.

The Lawrence county delegation in Harrisburg is jubilant. There was a strut to their walk, a pride in their bearing for in the selection of Captain Rowland, Lawrence county has the second cabinet officer it has ever had. Dr. Charles G. Jordan being the first in the cabinet of Governor John S. Fisher.

History repeats because people never learn. Away back in 1420 the Scots petitioned their king for relief from "a pest of starlings."

Prophecy No. 93: The back-to-the-farm movement will be resumed soon. Cities are beginning to levy an income tax.

Court Order Filed In Thompson Suit

More Specific Bill Of Complaint Ordered Filed In New Wilmington Telephone Suit

In the suit of equity filed by Andrew W. Thompson vs. Elizabeth M. Totten, executrix of Robert J. Totten, deceased, and Elizabeth M. Totten, individually, an order was handed down by Presiding Judge W. Walter Brahm in county court this morning.

The order directs that "in the interests of justice the defendant is required to answer over as to why an accounting should not be had by the plaintiff but that prior to this the plaintiff should file a more specific bill of complaint as herein specified."

Thompson, the plaintiff, asks an accounting in the affairs of the New Wilmington Telephone company, in which he and Totten, the deceased, were partners, alleging that certain sums of money are due him from the receipts of the company which he has never received.

ONE RESOLUTION YOU SHOULD KEEP

BY this time, most of your New Year's resolutions have probably been broken. That's only human. But there's one resolution every one of us should make and keep for the twelve months ahead. Here it is: "I resolve to do my part, as a motorist and pedestrian, to help reduce America's ghastly death and accident toll."

During a large part of 1938, the accident rate declined. But we haven't yet earned the right to compliment ourselves and sit back on our laurels. Tens of thousands of people died unnecessarily last year—the victims of recklessness and ignorance. Tens of thousands more will die unnecessarily this year—unless all of us do something about it.

There are three basic approaches to the accident problem. First, comes education. And that doesn't mean just teaching the rudiments of safety to school children. It also means reaching the adult—continuously and pointedly—with those simple instructions and suggestions that, if followed, will reduce the hazards of motoring 90 per cent.

Second, comes law enforcement. A number of American cities have materially reduced their accident rates by revising their traffic codes, training their traffic police, and doing away with fixing.

Third, comes better street and highway design, to eliminate "accident prone" locations. Many an intersection which was a virtual death trap has been made safe through competent engineering. Every community should start on a long-time program that will gradually do away with this cause of deaths and injuries.

We can have safety—if we want it, and are willing to earn it. This is a universal problem, and its solution depends on the cooperation of us all. We made progress toward that end last year—let's do a great deal more this year.

SCIENCE SHOULD KNOW

Score another victory for science. The British government recently planned to spend more than $100,000,000 on back-yard "mail order" bomb-proof shelters when hoots of derision from a group of scientists halted the program's progress.

The shelters, according to the scientific committee, if placed against walls, as would be necessary in crowded areas, would be buried under debris from air raids, thus rendered useless.

It is in vital matters like this concerning national welfare and protection that the opinions of scientific experts should first be sought, thereby preventing costly or tragic mistakes by well-meaning but un-informed laymen.

And to further prove that the British men of science were not devoid of constructive suggestions, the protesting group urged the furnishing of "a really effective scheme of communal bomb-proof cellars, which, together with evacuation, can give a high degree of protection to our civil population" in the event of war.

MR. HOPKINS' POLITICS

The Administration for a long time denied that there was politics in relief. Harry L. Hopkins, WPA Administrator, was indignant in his rejection of charges that his organization was being used for political purposes.

Well, it now seems that it was true, and the witness who admits it is none other than Mr. Hopkins himself. Under a 3½-hour examination at the hands of the Senate Committee on Commerce, inquiring into his fitness to be Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Hopkins confessed error. Asked regarding political speeches he had made as head of WPA, Mr. Hopkins said:

"I do not want to duck that question. I do not want to imply I withdrew the contents of those speeches, but if I had the road to go over again, I would not have made them as Relief Administrator."

When Senator Vandenberg of Michigan showed a rising curve of WPA employment during the 1938 campaign, and just prior to the November election, with thereafter a drop, Mr. Hopkins said:

"I realize that there are people so cynical they say the rolls would be increased for an election."

There were 2,700,000 on the relief rolls in June, 1938, according to Mr. Vandenberg's chart, and 3,262,000 on the rolls the first week in November. If it be cynicism to suspect the reason for this rise, Mr. Hopkins leaves his critics to make the most of it. His answer is: "I do not want to tell you there has been no politics in relief, but we have tried to keep it out." He admits, however, that WPA supervisors were "pushed" by outside influence. But none of them was fired. As to the reason for not discharging them, Mr. Hopkins was vague. On this point he said:

"I think they (WPA local officials) should have been pitched out on their ear. They were not. I don't want to duck the responsibility in my shop, see? I think we should have fired them. We made mistakes."

As Senator White of Maine remarked, confession is good for the soul. But it doesn't change the record; it doesn't correct the misuse of relief funds in the 1938 elections.

In short, what do the Administration and Congress intend to do about it now, if anything?

"If a Chinese has extra room, relatives feel justified in living with him." How quickly American customs penetrate the Orient.

Infants must be wonderfully smart. You couldn't learn to speak a new language if the natives added "tity" or "ums" to every word.

The death of an acquaintance usually surprises us. He suffered in silence, so that we suspected nothing, or he complained so much we didn't believe him.

The old-timers also believed in virtue by force. In your great-grandfather's time, Philadelphia strung chains across the streets to prevent Sunday driving.

It turns out that the new bosom friends, made at Lima, expect a loan of Uncle Sam. All Sam remembers is the bartender calling, "Step up, boys! Here comes a live one."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHEN FRANKLIN WAS YOUNG

This is the birthday of a truly great American, Benjamin Franklin, who was born 223 years ago on a Sunday, Abraham Lincoln also was born on a Sunday, but 19 years after Franklin died. Franklin was a young man of 26 when Washington was born. Mutual admirers, they unselfishly worked shoulder to shoulder for their country.

The Declaration of Independence, the Treaty of Alliance with France, the Treaty of Paris at the close of the Revolutionary war, and the Constitution of the United States all were signed by Franklin, the only man thus honored.

Large Family

Benjamin Franklin was the thirteenth of a family of 15 children, eight of those by the second wife. The mother of the first five died after the birth of the fifth. Excepting the three who died very young, all these children grew up together. Benjamin Franklin certainly had playmates. And they helped discipline him, as revealed by his own story of the whistle. Here it is:

"When I was a child of seven years old, my friends, on a holiday, filled my pockets with coppers. I went directly to a shop where they sold toys for children; and being charmed with the sound of a whistle that I met by the way in the hands of another boy, I voluntarily offered and gave all my money for one. I then came home and went whistling all over the house, much pleased with my whistle, but disturbing all the family. My brothers and sisters and cousins, understanding the bargain I had made, told me I had given four times as much for it as it was worth; but in my mind what good things I might have bought with the rest of the money, and laughed at me so much for my folly that I cried with vexation; and the reflection gave me more chagrin than the whistle gave me pleasure."

Little Formal Schooling

Benjamin Franklin had only a small amount of normal schooling, yet he became about the most famous scholar and scientist of his day, honored at home and abroad. Yale and Harvard universities conferred degrees upon him. He was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society of England. He educated himself, even mastering several foreign languages. In later life he wrote:

"For a child I was fond of reading, and all the little money that came into my hands was laid out in books. . . . Often I sat up in my room reading the greatest part of the night." When 16, apprenticed to his older brother as printer, Benjamin boarded himself on very simple fare and, with the money he saved, bought books. While his brother and other printers went out for meals, Benjamin remained alone and read after he had a simple meal of "a biscuit or a slice of bread, a handful of raisins or a tart from the pastry cook's and a glass of water." His autobiography is about the most inspiring book for youth to read.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

BUSINESS RELATIONS

Speaking about the Pan-American Conference held in Lima, Peru, it may be a little difficult for Americans to realize just why the representatives from the South American republics were unwilling to support, wholeheartedly, the terms of the Monroe Doctrine.

Through the years English and German influences have been very busy in South America, particularly in Buenos Aires. These Britishers and Germans, to say nothing of the French, studied the South American market very intently. They established banks in Buenos Aires and other capitals of South America, but particularly in Buenos Aires. They made it their business to know the demands of the South American market; what South Americans needed by way of merchandise of all kinds. They made it their business also to know the manner in which South Americans paid for this merchandise, the time of payment and all that. The manufacturers and wholesalers of Europe sent to South America representatives who spoke the language of South America; who knew the habits and customs of South Americans, and the South Americans grew to like these people very much. Until the National City Bank of New York established its bank at Buenos Aires, there had been no intelligent analysis of South American habits and customs made known to American merchants.

It had been very difficult for Americans to fit into this scheme of things in the southern hemisphere. It was natural, therefore, for the delegates to that Lima conference to do a little sneering at the representatives from this nation. Our representatives did not speak Spanish. They addressed these Spanish people in English. At all their conferences they had to have everything translated to them. They could not read a Spanish document of any kind submitted to them without a translator first translating it, in other words, our representatives not only knew no Spanish, but they knew very little of the Spanish customs and manners.

HINTS and DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:00; sun rises tomorrow 7:21.

In big city hotels where conventions are held all the settees and couches are taken out of the lobbies. As soon as the newspaper convention was over last week in Harrisburg, the furniture was taken out. No doubt the hotels had some fears for the safety of the furniture when the politicians arrived. Nice compliment to the newspaper men.

Where are the birds who declared we were going to have such a nice winter? Freezing, no doubt.

Women are pretty smart when their own welfare is at stake.

We spent several days in Harrisburg last week and we still think there is no office down there that we would want.

"No, sir, I couldn't come to church last Sunday," said young Clark to the minister when he commented on his absence. "I got a job that netted me six dollars."

"But that was breaking the Sabbath, wasn't it?" suggested the parson.

"Yes," said Clark. "But it was simply a question of which one of us would go broke, sir, the Sabbath or me."

Caged chaffinches are celebrated for their eagerness to compete with one another in singing. They deliver the songs alternately until one is exhausted and unable to take up his turn. So excited do the birds become that it occasionally happens that one of the competitors drops dead.

On his expense account appeared: "Porter ten cents."

"We cannot pay for your drinks," said the accountant.

"That was for a man I hired to carry me bag," said the officer.

"Then you should have said 'porterage.' That's the word in this country."

"All right," said the officer. "Then when I put down for a cab do I say cabbage?"

New York's telephone list, 30 years ago, was printed on a small card. It had the names of 252 subscribers.

A Boston business man takes all the letters he receives that are marked "Delayed, but not read," stamps them "Received, but not read," and returns them to their writers.

Fable: Once there was a man who loved money, and he also loved his many friends.

The sensitiveness women feel about mentioning their age is not at all modern. A great many women are mentioned in the Old Testament, but there is but one—Sarah, Abraham's wife—whose age is on record.

What a world! We invented machines to give us blessed leisure, and now we feel abused because we have it.

The automobile output for 1938 shows a 7 per cent drop. A lot of those also in use dropped somewhere or another.

To avoid mistakes and regrets, always consult your wife before engaging in a flirtation.

A personal item in a country paper last week read "Mr. and Mrs. McLake were in town Thursday attending seriously to their own business."

We heard of a man who lost all of his property except his wife and she was the most expensive property he had.

We heard a bird say in Harrisburg, who was out of job that he had several things in view. Later we heard another chap say he was sure it was the jailhouse.

The American Bar Association thinks it should be made a crime for a lawyer to engage in mail order divorce business. Some of that business would be stopped if a stop were put to mail order marriages.

THE LADY FROM FLORIDA SEES THE PRESIDENT

A woman from Florida approached the President one day, and after greeting her the President asked what he could do for her.

"Oh, nothing at all," replied the woman. "I came from Florida just to see what a live President looked like. I never saw one."

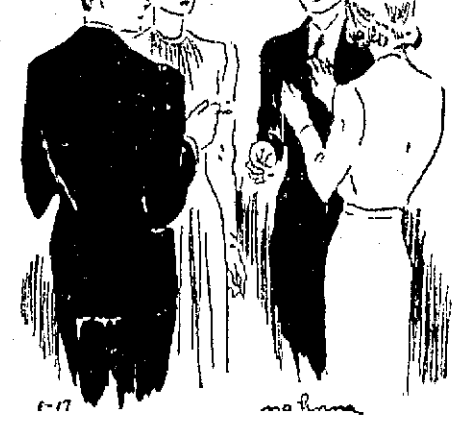

"That's very kind of you," replied the President, laughing heartily. "There's no reason why you shouldn't, since many of us in the North here go all the way to Florida just to see a live alligator."

A famous painter was explaining to Whistler how long it took him to paint a painting. "This," he said, pointing to his latest canvases, "took over a year. I put my whole mind in it."

"Oh," replied Whistler, "that's where it has gone to, is it?"

Good Taste

Your criticism of your spouse should be reserved for the privacy of your home. Public castigation and reprimand leave such a bad impression on witnesses that their respect for the perpetrator is lost forever to be regained. A gentleman will, in public at least, conceal his ill-feeling, especially toward his wife, and she should allow him the same consideration.

Readers' Questions Answered
Dear Miss Markel—A few days ago, my husband was invited to a party at which there were both men and women. I received no invitation. Is this not unusual? Just what is my position? Should my husband go?

C. H.
Answer—It is very unusual. It occurred either through an oversight or through gross ignorance. An invitation, to anything other than a stag party, should never be sent to a married man unless his wife is included. Your husband should show his disapproval by declining.

The man who has a business these days must keep after it freely. If he doesn't it will not be very long before he will be on relief if there is any relief left.

Some of us look like a new man when we change to a new suit of clothes, and some politicians look like new men when they change their press agent.

So many methods were invented for the purpose of foiling the attack of the submarine that the end of the war found that menace pretty well subdued. But no effective defense against the old-fashioned "surprise party" has ever been devised.

This is not very encouraging! An insurance company figures it out that of 100 healthy men at 25.

Five will be wealthy at 65.

Five will be working for wages at 65, and the remaining

How much is a wife worth? Here are some values: In Uganda a wife costs four bulis, a box of cartridges and six needles. A Kafir lady, according to the social status of her family, is worth from two to ten cows. A Navajo girl is expensive. She cannot be bought for less than ten horses.

Half a pound of rump steak, minced and eaten raw, is equal in energy and nutriment to one pound and a quarter of cooked steak.

America got its name really through an error. The learned heads of the University of St. Die, in Lorraine, met and decided that Amerigo Vespucci was entitled to the honor of discovery, Columbus only having reached the islands of the West Indies, and that the western hemisphere should bear his name.

It was afterward shown that Amerigo Vespucci was preceded by both Christopher Columbus and John Cabot, but it was too late. The new world had been dubbed "America," and the fact advertised in print.

We had the notion that college football was a gentleman's game until the ex-stars turned to professional wrestling.

We heard Mr. Dies speak in Harrisburg last week. We never heard such a grand speech. If he had his way the population of this country would be greatly reduced and some would have to get out of Washington.

What's What At A Glance

European Reports No Secret
News Hounds Get Inside Dope
World War Crisis Is Recalled

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 17.—Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador to Great Britain, "reportedly" said so-and-so recently, as a witness before a joint meeting of the senate and representatives' military affairs committees here in Washington.

William C. Bullitt, Uncle Sam's ambassador to France, "allegedly" furnish the legislators with certain additional information. "Rumor has it" that Hugh R. Wilson, U. S. ambassador to Germany (home on indefinite leave, however), furnished the joint committee with further facts bearing on the foreign situation. "According to reliable sources" the lawmakers are in possession of "important memoranda" provided by William Phillips, American ambassador to Italy. "It is understood" that Joseph C. Grew has supplemented this war of diplomatic dope, in our solons' hands, with copious confidential dispatches from Tokyo, where he is our Yankee envoy.

And there is an unlimited quantity more of it, of other "usually well-informed" origin.

Nominally it consists exclusively of reports, allegations, hints, rumors and miscellaneous uncertainties. Theoretically the joint congressional committees sessions are executive and secret. My! how secret!

The truth is that these two committees have a combined membership of 40-odd.

The Washington news correspondents have taken that membership of 40-or-more, and wrung 'em dry, member by member, for net results. Maybe no one committee man has told everything. Maybe no one correspondent has squeezed out the whole story.

But, pooling the yield, not much is left to the imagination. Different in 1914

In 1914 things were entirely different.

Personally, in those days, if I do say so myself, I had a fairly clear idea of the dangers of the outlook in Europe. I had lived there, had criss-crossed the old world as a traveler, and had sensed the tensi of the strain in that hemisphere.

But heavens! When the row broke out I had not a notion but that the United States would side-step it as any rational bystander would side-step a scrap between mad-dogs.

Settlement Agreed On In Damage Suit

John Gurgasz Receives Damages Of $6,750 From Auto Accident Injuries

After a jury had been drawn to try the case of John Gurgasz against the Pennsylvania Power Company and Gustav A. Homan, growing out of an automobile accident in which the plaintiff received injuries of a disabling nature, an agreement was reached between counsel for the parties involved in the suit, whereby Gurgasz is to receive $6,750.

Homan, who is a salesman for the Pennsylvania Power company, is said to have been the driver of an automobile, which inflicted serious injuries to the defendant. When the case came up for trial yesterday, he was brought into court on a stretcher. As the case was about to go to trial, a conference was held, when an agreement was reached, giving the plaintiff the above named amount.

Youth Hurt In Sled-Auto Crash

Albert Piffant, Jr., Luton street, sustained a dislocated shoulder and injuries to his back when his sled collided with an auto driven by Oliver Piffant, R. D. 1, in Luton street at 9:07 p. m. Monday.

The lad was taken by the autoist to a physician and his injuries were treated. According to the report made to city police Piffant's sled struck the auto which was driven east on Luton street at the first curb south of East Washington street.

Loyalty Luncheon At Highland Today

This is the day of the annual W. C. T. U. Loyalty Luncheon. At 12:30 p. m. members from unions throughout the county were gathering in the community room of Highland U. P. church for this important county event. The after luncheon speakers are Corp. G. F. Keck of the State Motor Police and Rev. Ray Woodburn of Mt. Jackson U. P. church.

BIG DELEGATION ON SPECIAL CARS

sudden change in the weather changed their minds and as a result the four cars are loaded to capacity. In the window of each car is a number with the additional identification of "Lawrence County" on a placard. Probably to enable the boys to find the cars tonight when they decide to sleep, if any.

Rather Official Car

Car 1875, Springfield, is more or less an official car. Mayor Charles E. McGrath is parked in this one, so is Councilman Joseph D. Alexander and City Engineer Glenn Throop. Former Councilmen D. O. Davies and L. G. Genkinger are also in it. Car 1876, "Durward", is the Jimmie Brice delegation. No officials in it but a number who have been and others who wouldn't mind. Former District Attorney J. Elder Byrnes is aboard this one. Elder, the chief justice of the first ward, is the only present official on it. Car 1877 is "Toccoloma" and car 1878 is "Pallaton". In the latter car the drawing room is occupied by a group of women. Before the train got to Beaver Falls, Mrs. Carl S. Hart had a picnic lunch kit set on the table and the girls enjoyed a snack.

This outfit even has its own barber along. Griff Lewis, the tonsorial artist of the East Side, is on board with the implements of his profession. He has promised a number of us a free shave Tuesday morning in Harrisburg.

These On Cars

Following is the list of inaugural visitors by cars:

Car 1875, "Springville"—L. G. Genkinger, William Milson, Charles Davis, M. A. Pette, H. J. Duncan, Joseph D. Alexander, Paxton Pike (Ellwood City), Griff Lewis, Frank F. Gellis, Daniel Treloar, H. Navarro, Glenn Throop, George McNally, Morrie Allen, Frank Nugent, William Williams, D. O. Davies, Wilbur Chapman, Frank Annowa, John Hughes, C. F. Watson, Mayor Charles E. McGrath, H. Turner (Sharon), Ed Foe.

Car 1876, "Durward"—Mrs. Bess Pitzer, F. S. Brennenman, Alderman James C. Brice, Miss Martha Bigley, Attorney J. Elder Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Jack M. Dunlap, David Evans (Ellwood City), J. A. Dinsmore, W. A. Maitland, W. H. McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Morrow and sons, Charles F. Jr., C. L. McMillen, Tom Patterson (Ellwood City), Mrs. Ward Reimold, Bart Richards, former Senator Fred A. Service of Sharon, Joseph Schuler (Ellwood City), David Tucker, Al Vogan, Charles I. Wetmore, County Chairman Albert E. Moses of Sharon, J. R. O'Mahoney of Sharon, James H. Ellison, Mrs. C. L. Reiman of Wampum, Mrs. Oscar Jackson of Wampum.

Car 1877, "Toccoloma"—L. B. Cowher, James A. Rugh, Jacob Fisher of Enon Valley, Karl Rohrer, Dale Pulleton, A. T. Eckles, W. R. McKee of East Brook, Homer Nicely, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin O. Reed, David Palmer, James Moorhead, D. C. McKee, John W. Patterson, Attorney Charles R. Davis, Clyde Lamb, T. C. Post, Gerald Post, Paul Graham, Lee Speer, Thomas West, W. P. Campbell, W. W. Campbell (New Wilmington), Joseph Forney, Betty Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Hart, H. Hoover.

Car 1878, "Falkston"—Mr. and Mrs. M. Maloney, T. Pherson, James E. Hinish, Frank S. Hoyt, B. N. Hanlon, T. D. Patterson, W. M. Roberts, Agnes Otto, Clem Crisel, following of Sharon: A. J. Barco, G. W. Barco, William Brown, Mrs. William Brown, M. D. McCabe, P. W. Barco, S. Rosenbloom. New Castle: William Moore, Attorney and Mrs. Orville Brown, Alderman B. J. Biscndi, Attorney Frank O. Moretti, J. J. McCoy, James P. Toler, Willie Cooper, H. R. Filson (Sharon), Thomas West, Jr., W. O. McGee.

At Pittsburgh a number of the Lawrence county people go off to visit with some of the Allegheny county delegation which was leaving in two special trains, immediately following the Lawrence county special. On the platform former Senator Frank J. Harris, just out of the hospital, was busy shaking hands. One of the Pittsburgh crowd boarded the train to which the Lawrence county specials are attached. You may have heard of the gentleman, former Attorney General Charles J. Morganti. Back in 1930 he was a familiar figure in New Castle when he prosecuted Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague. He it was who first opened the broadside of charges against the Democratic administration.

We had been wondering what had become of the Forgotten Man. It seems he had been running the Department of Commerce.

Truck And Trailer In Wild Dash Down Hill In Rochester

Two Persons Injured When Runaway Truck Collides With Automobile

(International News Service) ROCHESTER, Pa., Jan. 17.—A trail of havoc was left today to mark the wild ride of a truck and trailer which careened down the steep Madison street hill here last night, wrecking two automobiles and striking four persons before smashing into a home in West Bridgewater.

Two persons, Rochester Patrolman Lyle C. Kimpke and his wife, of 76 Sixth street, Beaver, were injured severely and sent to Rochester hospital. Several other persons in the path of the lumbering machine also received minor injuries.

Kimpke's machine was demolished by the truck.

The driver of the heavy vehicle, Harry Miller of Akron, O., escaped injury. No charges were placed against him pending an investigation. An insurance company posted bond for the damages last night.

American Legion Auxiliary Meets

The American Legion Auxiliary met in the Legion Home, Monday evening.

Plans were made for a patriotic dinner to be held February 20, with husbands as guests.

Louise Evans, Flossie Potter, Nettie Winter and Mabel Kennedy will be in charge of the kitchen; Ruth Connor, Mary Richardson and Josephine Budzowski taking charge of the dining room. Americanization chairman, Mrs. Mary Wilson has charge of the program. The Auxiliary plans to send a delegation to the Four County Council to be held in Beaver Falls, January 26. On February 21, Mrs. Flossie Potter will be chairman of a card and bingo party.

Mrs. Louie Witter, of Bishop Sharra, Unit 219, Evans City, was a special guest of the occasion.

After the meeting, a card party was enjoyed, with Mrs. S. M. Cope as chairman. The card prizes were awarded to Mrs. Mac McFarland, Louise Evans, Harry Mehlman and Frank Connors. The bingo was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Speed and Mrs. Elizabeth Miller. Prizes for bingo went to Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. White and George Henderson.

Last evening's kitchen committee, included Mrs. Ruth Connors, Alice Glover, Anna Jones and Margaret Rice.

The next meeting will be on February 6, at the Legion Home.

Bessemer Rotary Hears Speaker At Special Session

Dr. Frank Phillips Of Ithica, N. Y., Speaks On Progress Of Rotary Groups

Almost the entire membership of the Bessemer Rotary club turned out Monday evening, for a special meeting in the Bessemer Presbyterian church. A feature of the meeting was a talk given by Dr. Frank Phillips, of the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithica, N. Y.

Dr. Phillips, a Professor of Agriculture at Cornell University was introduced to the club by Gerald Nord, secretary, and spoke to the group on "Rotary." In his talk he explained how friendship may be developed through Rotary groups in a community. He also traced the progress of the association from the earliest clubs in this country.

There were a number of guests in attendance at the special session. Next regular meeting of the club will be on Wednesday evening, January 25. At this time, Secretary Nord stated, an attendance contest with the Slippery Rock Rotary club will be started.

sharp-featured little man with a high, squeaky voice and a Down-East accent. He had come West to make money and, for a price, accepted the role—the only paid actor in the cast. Even when he draped with ferocious black whiskers, he was too anaemic and too flat-chested for a plausible villain.

Here the story falls as a paradigm for our plan for putting screen villainy on an international business basis. The villain's pay-off line was, "Yes, I did take the money—but I defy you." In the shoe clerk's shrill, frost-bitten accent, it was not merely a question of getting some country to stand for them.

SONS OF ITALY HAVE MEETING

Members of the Sons of Italy lodge held their regular meeting on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in their club rooms on South Mill street.

Plans were made for a card party to be held on January 31 at the hall. Those on the committee are Mrs. J. Bobbino, Mrs. Veto Cella, Mrs. George Ross, Mrs. Floyd Semone, Mrs. Paul Braccia and Mrs. James Chel.

The next regular meeting will take place on February 3.

BAPTIST MEMBERS ARE ASKED TO HELP FAMILIES IN NEED

First Baptist church members are urged by Sunday School Superintendent Paul D. FINE ARTS GROUP MONDAY ASSEMBLY

Mrs. Louis Sandler received the Fine Arts Department, of the Woman's club, in her home on Moody avenue, Monday afternoon. Mrs. Paul Friend, accompanied by Mrs. Kathryn Nessel Allen, opened the program by singing, in a most accomplished manner, "O, Ask of the Stars, Beloved," a Mexican folk song. For her second selection, she sang, "Wholly Buy My Lavender," by German. Mrs. Friend is now in New Castle and is fast making for herself, a place in New Castle's musical circle.

Miss Betty Mackey reviewed for the group the drama, "Craig's Wife." She gave a psychological approach and study of this drama in an interesting and entertaining manner. Miss Caroline Cosel closed the program with a piano number, Liszt's arrangement of Schubert's "Serenade."

Mrs. Arthur B. Foster, president of the Woman's club, presided at the prettily appointed tea table. Mrs. Sandler was assisted by Mrs. C. Lee McMiller, Mrs. Lyle Hughes, Mrs. Edward Wish and Mrs. A. Fisher.

On February 13, Mrs. Keith McAfee, Hazelcroft avenue, will be hostess to the group, and Mrs. J. L. Reed will have charge of the program.

True Blue Class
Nettie Irene Mann, Norwood avenue, entertained the True Blue Bible class, Third U. P. church Monday evening. Election of officers for the new year resulted as follows: president, Nettie Irene Mann; vice president, Ida Alexander; secretary, Katy Ulrich; treasurer, Marian Mann; missionary treasurer, Helen Book; press reporter, Isabel Wyman.

"Secret Sisters" for the past year were revealed and new names were drawn for the coming year. Games were played, after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, aided by Marian Mann and Martikala.

The next meeting will be at the home of Dorothy Martin, Arlington avenue.

McGill Society Meeting

Mrs. Clarence Ruthrauff, of Norwood avenue, assisted by Miss Thelma Merriells, entertained the McGill Missionary Society of Highland United Presbyterian church at her home Monday evening.

"India" was continued as a study. Miss Merriells led devotions and program. Those participating in the program were Miss Lois Curry, Mrs. Beatrice Muder and Miss Ann Kennedy.

A tureen dinner at the church is planned for next time, and election of officers.

F. O. F. Club

Mrs. Frank Bowers entertained members of the F. O. F. bridge club at her home on Ray street, Monday evening. There were two special guests, Mrs. Arthur Bratchie and Mrs. Allen Turner.

Games of cards proved the main pastime and the prize winner was Mrs. Clyde Burkholder. At a later hour, the guests were served a tasty lunch and assisting was Mrs. James Devore.

February 20 is the date of the next meeting to be with Mrs. Henry Brennehan on Garfield avenue.

N. C. T. at Flick Home

The N. C. T. club will meet at the home of Mrs. A. M. Flick of Park avenue, Wednesday.

1923 S. L. Club

"BATTLE FOR TRADE" IS SPEAKERS' TOPIC

Members of the Business and Professional Woman's club met in the Green room of the Y. W. C. A. Monday evening at 5:45 for their regular meeting and dinner, with 50 members and guests present.

Miss Mary VanDyke, president, presided and introduced Ross Rosenberg, a representative of the Rotary club, who announced that the club was sponsoring a series of lectures beginning February 9. Singing was enjoyed by the group, under the direction of Olive Webb, with Theodore Pollock accompanying.

Miss VanDyke introduced Rose Barber, who in turn presented the guest speaker of the evening, Dale McFeaters of Pittsburgh. Mr. McFeaters spoke on "The Battle For Trade."

The program was in charge of the finance committee.

The executive board will meet on January 23 in the Y. W. C. A., and the next regular business meeting will be held on February 6 at 5:45 in the Green room.

Teachers Training Class

Teachers Training class of the First Baptist church, were entertained in a delightful informal manner Monday evening, with Miss Florence Williams presiding in the role of hostess, at their usual meeting place.

Bible games were enjoyed, and fancywork also filled in the hours. In conclusion, refreshments were served on prettily appointed trays, novel doll favors marking each place.

On February 13, Miss Virginia Davis will be hostess at the church.

Birthday Honored

Honoring Angela Marie Fava on her fourth birthday anniversary, about 15 of her friends gathered in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marchione Fava, on Maitland street, Sunday afternoon. The event was a complete surprise to the honoree.

Various games were played and Lorraine Juliano favored the group with acrobatic stunts. A lunch was served. Angela Marie received a number of gifts.

TROOP FIVE MEETING

The Girl Scouts of Troop Five held a meeting in the Croton Methodist church, recently. Meeting opened with games and a business session.

The first class scouts studied first aid and the other girls formed in a group and studied the national anthem and the flag. Each girl was asked to think up a new game for the next meeting on January 19, at 7 o'clock.

Scribe, Elaine Hayden.

TROOP SIX MEETS

Girl Scouts of Troop Six held a meeting Monday evening at the Highland school building. Special reports were given by the girls at the beginning of the meeting.

Following girls were invested as girl scouts: Ruth Ramsey, Bessie Clark, Gloria Parr, Dorothy Smith, Kathryn Johns, Betty Lou Carlson and Kathryn Marousis. Ann Higgins and Nancy Gilliland served as color guards and Shirley Hanna and Patricia Kradel were flag bearers.

Mrs. Ralph Ramsey was a special guest of the troop.

Scribe, Patricia Kradel.

Minimum Set In Steel Plants

Secretary Perkins Proclaims
Minimum Wages For Steel Industry In Nation

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Minimum wages for the steel industry ranging downward from 62.5 cents an hour in northern and central sections where most of the nation's steel output is produced, to 45 cents an hour in the south and southeast, were proclaimed under the Walsh-Healy law Monday afternoon by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins. The wage minimums go into effect after January 31, and apply to all steel produced for government contracts of $10,000 or more. Since much of the government-purchased steel goes into navy vessels, a majority of government contracts for steel run above the $10,000 contract minimum.

Determination of the wage minimums was based on nearly a year of hearings and no hearings. The proclamation, carrying the signature of Assistant Secretary Charles V. McLaughlin as acting secretary in the absence of Miss Perkins from Washington, provided that apprentices might be paid wages below the minimum if their employment conformed to standards of the federal committee on apprenticeship.

Four major sectors were set out in the proclamation fixing the wage floor for steel produced for the government:

1. 62.5 cents an hour or its equivalent on piece work: Ohio, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Kentucky, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine and the District of Columbia, and in West Virginia the counties of Hancock, Brooke, Ohio, Marshall, Harrison and Monongalia, and the central states of Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and Illinois, except for "the area in and about East St. Louis."

2. 60 cents an hour: Washington, Oregon, California, Montana, Idaho, Nevada, Wyoming, New Mexico, Utah, Colorado and Arizona.

3. 58.5 cents an hour: North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, and the area "in and about East St. Louis, Ill."

4. 45 cents an hour: Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Oklahoma, Texas, Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia, Virginia and West Virginia except within the counties of Hancock, Brooke, Ohio, Harrison, Monongalia and Marshall.

Two Women Occupy Unique Places In State Government

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 17.—Two women, of different race, today occupy unique positions in Pennsylvania's state government.

One, Miss Sophia M. R. O'Hara, 55 of Wilkes-Barre, in the state's anthracite coal belt, has been selected as the first secretary of commonwealth in Pennsylvania history.

The other, Mrs. Crystal Bird Fausst, a negress of Philadelphia assumes the post of first woman legislator of her race in the general assembly.

The two women are of opposite political creeds, Miss O'Hara being a Republican appointed by Gov. Arthur H. James and Mrs. Fausst, a Democrat elected from a normally white-dominated district in Philadelphia.

Man Confesses Brutal Slaying Of Young Girl

Ernest Mahr, 24, Odd Jobs Man
Confesses After Being Picked Up By Police

(International News Service)

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 17.—A 24-year-old Milwaukee odd jobs worker, Ernest Mahr, Monday confessed beating 16-year-old Ruth Ella Scott to death with an axe in her bedroom, according to police.

Captured three miles west of Racine, Wis., as he attempted to escape by hitch-hiking shortly after noon, Mahr almost immediately broke down and admitted the crime, police were advised.

Had Police Record

A checkup showed that Mahr had a police record in Milwaukee, and had served time in the industrial school at Waukesha, Wis., for auto theft.

The slain girl, whose murder was one of the most brutal in Milwaukee criminal annals, was described today as a brilliant high school student who never went out with boys.

From descriptions given by the girl's mother and Racine authorities, police drew the conclusion that Mahr had applied at the Scott home for work Friday, and had then determined to break into the house.

He was being brought back to Milwaukee to face prosecution.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Frostbitten parts should be handled gently.

Rubbing after freezing is not the proper treatment.

Rubbing with snow is especially bad.

The frozen tissue may be thus bruised and torn.

The frozen part should be covered gently with the bare hand.

The hand, if frozen, can be held in the armpit.

The frozen part may be thawed gradually in cool air or water.

Then rub gently with dry fur.

Exposing to a hot stove or fire is very bad.

Severe pain or permanent damage to blood supply may result.

Do not let anyone rub your frost-bitten ears with snow.

That treatment may do more harm than good.

George E. Freed to Albert R. Reick, Big Beaver township, $1.

Two cases were started in court rooms number one and two, on Monday. In court room number one a damage suit was started by John Gargasz against the Pennsylvania Power Company and Guslav Holman.

The case arises out of an accident on December 24, 1936, when Gustav Holman, an agent for the power company, was driving down Atlantic avenue. Gargasz was walking along the highway and in some manner was struck by the automobile.

Gargasz came to court on a stretcher. He claims severe injuries and a heavy amount of damages.

In court room number two another automobile damage suit was started. Jesse Fegwell, of Erie avenue, sues Miles Schodeman for damages for injuries arising out of an accident on April 20, 1938, near the corner of Crawford and Croton avenue.

Judge Thomas W. Dickey finally succumbed to the blandishments of his friends. For two weeks he stood out against going to the inauguration on the grounds that he had some cases to try in number two. The calendar was worked off and it was possible for the judge to get away on a late train Monday night to see his close personal friend, Arthur H. James, inducted as governor of the commonwealth.

Sheriff M. M. Ingham got an early start. He had intended going down on the train, but on Sunday got a hurry up call to take a mental patient to Coatesville, Pa. He had to leave by automobile and expected to stop back at Harrisburg on Monday.

Brest's Hearing Again Delayed

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—The habeas corpus hearing for Harold Martin Brest, Sharon kidnaper, scheduled to be heard in federal court here Monday was again postponed—this time until January 23.

Today's continuance was necessitated because James A. Johnston, an official at Alcatraz, the government's strictest prison, has not yet formally signed papers acknowledging receipt of the habeas corpus petition.

Brest is attempting to evade a 15-year sentence for the kidnapping of a Sharon, a mobile salesman on the technicality that Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker of the Federal Court in Pittsburgh, failed to appoint counsel for Brest on his plea of guilty.

The prisoner was later convicted of entering and robbing two western Pennsylvania banks.

WASHINGTON, Ind., Jan. 17.—Ball-bearing door hinges, and anti-skid attachment for shoes, designed to prevent pedestrians from slipping on icy underfooting, are two devices on which Paul Wimmerman, of Washington, recently has received patents from the United States government.

The auxiliary sole is composed of many stud-like coils extending from the bottom, and arranged in rows so as to prevent slipping. It may be securely and quickly attached to shoes, allowing the wearer to walk on icy pavements in safety, its inventor claimed.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup Than You Can Buy

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then, get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Peppermint, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

UPSET STOMACH

Colds and other infections aren't the only causes of vomiting and diarrhea in children. Sometimes, when these symptoms persist, it is found that the baby has an abnormal digestive tract. For instance, I remember one child who vomited persistently. He had no cold, no other infection we could find; we changed his feedings, but with little success. Finally, investigation showed that a muscle at the lower end of the stomach was too tight.

In such a case, the only thing to do is to operate and split that taut muscle so that swallowed food can get through. This condition is given the scientific name of pyloric stenosis, and it occurs more often with boys than with girls. When a child is suffering from this abnormality, it will be noticed that his vomiting is projectile—that is, he throws it forcibly out of his mouth. Sometimes babies are born with a nervous tension that seems to keep their muscles always tight. Sometimes their bodies are so rigid that if you pick them up by the head and the heels they seem like a piece of wood.

This is rather rare, of course. When it does happen you can often see how that nervousness has been inherited from the parents. You will see a tense, nervous mother or father, who not only contributed to this heritage but who, now that the child is aggravating it with nervous behavior.

When you find such a youngster, you find that the muscles controlling the stomach will be just as tight as are those of the rest of the body. The result is that when he swallows food, and it gets into the stomach, the muscles there contract forcibly and the food is literally thrown from the stomach.

If the child is suffering from this particular form of abnormality, then his doctor is the one to look after him. What he will probably do is to give him a mild sedative just before feeding, so that the muscles of the stomach will be relaxed as the food passes through it in the digestive process.

The doctor will also, quite likely, speak to the mother or father about controlling their nervous tendencies as well. You know, it's pretty hard for a child to be calm and relaxed if a high-strung, jittery mother can't control herself when she is with him and waiting on him.

Occasionally some disturbance in the brain of a new-born infant may cause vomiting. Usually these are babies born after severe labor. Due to the difficulty they have had being brought out into the world, there are small areas in the brain where bleeding has occurred. These babies are usually difficult to feed and vomit a great deal.

This just brings us back to what I told you weeks ago—the most dangerous time of a child's life is when it is being born. That is why I have advised prospective mothers to make absolutely sure that when they are confined they will have a doctor in attendance who knows his job. And they must have absolute confidence in his ability to conduct the birth successfully.

When your child vomits or has diarrhea because there is some infection upsetting his system, it is a good idea to reduce the strength of his feedings by removing some of the milk and substituting water. Not only does this remove some of the load from the stomach, but in diarrhea there is great danger of dehydration. For this reason water should be given freely between feedings.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Jan. 17. — The passing of the Earle administration marks the end of a political era, the first "Little New Deal" state government in commonwealth history.

Unlike the New Deal of the national scene, it failed to weather the storm of four eventful years. Whether the incoming Republican regime will revert to "Old Deal" policies of its predecessor G. O. P. administrations or adopt some of the "New Deal" tenets of the out-going administration remains yet to be seen.

Tremendous problems of administration and human welfare confront the new regime as it takes over the state government. The last pay day under the state Democratic administration fell on Friday the thirteenth of January.

Of significance or just a coincidence, depending on the way you look at it.

Judge James is the second lieutenant-governor to rise to the governorship. . . . He served as lieutenant-governor from 1927 to 1931 under Gov. John S. Fisher. . . . The only other lieutenant-governor to become chief executive was William Freame Johnston. . . . He succeeded through the resignation of Gov. Francis R. Shunk in 1848. . . . Shunk died eleven days after he resigned. . . . Johnston took the oath of office six days later. . . . Thus for seventeen days Pennsylvania was without a governor.

Pennsylvania is apparently not slated for a federal school of aviation. . . . The recent announcement of President Roosevelt of plans to train 20,000 college students annually as civilian pilots excited considerable interest among Pennsylvania youths. . . . It is understood, however, that eight non-Pennsylvania colleges have been chosen: Purdue, Washington State, Alabama, Indiana, Minnesota, Texas A. & M., Georgia, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The meritorious service medal received by Lieutenant-Colonel C. M. Wilhelm, deputy commissioner of the Pennsylvania Motor Police, is the second citation the veteran police officer has received for outstanding endeavor. . . . During the administration of Gov. John S. Fisher, Colonel Wilhelm, then deputy commissioner of the state police, received the state police medal of honor for meritorious service. He is the only man now in service who started with the state police force when it was organized in 1905.

Rotary Club Hears
Insurance Address

Maurice S. Yeiser Guest At Monday Meeting; Sees
Boom Ahead

While the United States boasts but seven per cent of the population of the world, she can proudly lay claim to 70 per cent of all the life insurance in force in the world. New Castle Rotarians were told at yesterday's meeting in The Castleton by Maurice S. Yeiser, Pittsburgh, field supervisor for the Aetna Life Insurance company. Life insurance rate changes were discussed by the speaker, introduced by David P. McBride, a rotarian and insurance representative. The development of the life insurance business—termed "one of the most scientific businesses we have today"—was also told. Yeiser, basing his belief upon Roger Babson's recently published forecasts, predicted that "we're on the verge of one of the greatest eras of prosperity we've ever known." Dr. C. C. Green, president of the club, who presided, said that tickets for Rotary's 1939 "Institute for International Understanding," opening February 9, will go on sale next week.

Training Course
For Leaders In Scouting To Start

Elements Of Boy Scout Leadership Will Be Taught At Washington School

Opening session of the first training course for Boy Scout leaders in the local district is scheduled to start Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, in the George Washington Junior high school building. This course, according to Karl F. Green, will cover the elements of scout leadership and will be divided into three major parts. Part one, consisting of three sessions, will cover the background of scouting and will be of interest to anyone desiring to know about scouting. Part two, consisting of five indoor sessions and one outdoor session, will cover technical phases of scouting of chief interest to troop leaders and prospective leaders. The third part will be of three sessions, all outdoors and will be held

CONSTIPATION
HOLDS YOU BACK

This trouble may be due to nothing more than the lack of the right kind of "bulk" in your food. . . . bulk which passes through the body without being consumed and helps to form a soft "bulky" mass in the bowels. If this is your difficulty, a crisp crunchy breakfast cereal, Kellogg's All-Brans will go right to the cause of the trouble by supplying the "bulk" you need. Eat All-Brans every day and drink plenty of water. Form the "regular" habit—and see how differently you feel. All-Brans is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

CLIMATIZER
HEATING AND VENTILATING SYSTEM

Built into the car,
under the seat,
out of the way

Healthful warmth for all passengers!
Clear-headed safety for the driver!

YOU haven't seen anything in a 1939 car that even begins to compare with this exclusive and revolutionary new Studebaker Climatizer.

Think of it—you just turn a switch and this remarkable Studebaker advancement keeps the entire interior of the car as cozy as a living room even in the coldest weather—assures foot warmth and body warmth for rear seat as well as front seat passengers—and provides filtered fresh air besides—winter or summer!

Nobody is exposed to drafts, dust, rain, hail or snow. The driver has clear vision all the time—doesn't get groggy and sleepy from breathing stale air.

The Climatizer is built in at the factory—takes up no leg room—and you can't get it, or anything like it, in any other car. It costs you only about as much extra as a good quality old fashioned heater would. Yet once you try it you wouldn't be without it. By all means get a demonstration of the Climatizer before you make a final decision on any car!

World's Smartest Car! Acclaimed as such by Europe's famed designers, the big, beautifully contoured, luxurious new 1939 Studebaker comes completely equipped with such indispensable as automatic hill holder, steering wheel gear shift lever, non-slam Hancock rotary door latches, planar wheel suspension and its Miracle Ride. Every model is a de luxe model at a low standard-model price. Your present car will cover part, perhaps all the down payment—balance on easy C. I. T. terms.

Report G-Men On Trail Of Kidnap Of Peter Levine

Description Of Man Broadcast

Arrest Is Imminent In Case According To New York Newspaper Story

SUSPECT ESCAPES TRAP SET FOR HIM

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—G-Men have tracked down the kidnaper who murdered 12-year-old Peter Levine of New Rochelle and his capture is imminent, the New York Journal and American reported today in an exclusive story.

A detailed description of the killer whose capture will solve the 11-month-old mystery was flashed to all F.B.I. offices in the East, the Journal and American said. Twice the fugitive barely escaped traps set for him in upstate New York and Boston, the story continued.

Describes Man Wanted
The alarm sent out by the G-Men described the kidnaper-murderer as a young man in his late twenties who kidnaped Peter solely for profit, according to the Journal and American. A resident in the vicinity of New Rochelle, he suddenly vanished when the search became hot, the story added. The man sought has no previous criminal record and is a sort of "jack of all trades," the newspaper said, reporting he had lived and worked in many eastern cities, including New York.

An unusual burst of activity among G-Men stationed at New Rochelle since the kidnaping last February 24 revealed the new break, according to the Journal and American. The identity of the kidnaper has been known to a handful of highly placed G-Men for the past two months, the newspaper said, it discovered after a check with federal men. Local law enforcement agencies were kept in the dark to preclude too wide a dissemination of the progress made by the G-Men.

Trap Fails
The newspaper said it was not immediately learned how the identity was made and by which of the three important clues the ransom note symbols, the toy typewriter on which it was printed or the copper wire with which the boy's headless body was bound.

In a trap set up-state, the G-Men missed their quarry by less than an hour, the Journal and American reported. In Boston they crashed into his hideout only to discover he had departed an hour before.

The secret alarm broadcast to all eastern F.B.I. offices includes a list of former haunts of the kidnaper-murderer to which he might return, according to the Journal and American.

The Levine boy disappeared February 24 after leaving high school in New Rochelle for his home. His distraught father conducted an unrelenting search for him, mulcted by chiselers at every turn, until 94 days later on May 29, the missing boy's mutilated body was washed ashore at Davenport Neck, near New Rochelle.

Attacks On Women Confessed By Man

But Police Are Skeptical Of Connection With Kingston Girl Slaying

(International News Service)

SUFFERN, N. Y., Jan. 17.—Suffern police today said they placed little credence in the self-incriminating story told by Frank Mozza, 34, a poultry dealer, admitting a sex slaying similar to the killing of Margaret Martin, near Kingston, Pa., last month.

A preliminary investigation disclosed nothing to show Mozza was in the vicinity of Kingston, Suffern police said. Arrested on a charge of at-

Farewell Event For Pastor Of Hoover Heights

Rev. A. T. Williams And Family Is Honored By Church Members Last Night

FAMILY LEAVING FOR PHILADELPHIA

Rev. Arthur T. Williams and his family, who are departing Wednesday morning for Philadelphia, were accorded a fond farewell Monday night by the members of Hoover Heights Gospel Tabernacle in South New Castle.

Rev. Williams, who has conducted a successful ministry for the past seven years at the tabernacle, has accepted a call to the Hebron Tabernacle of downtown Philadelphia and will assume his duties there next Sunday.

Alfred Goch, an elder of Hoover Heights, was chairman of the gathering last night. After an inspiring song service, Rev. F. R. Schilling of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, Ellwood City, spoke in behalf of the district Alliance ministers; Rev. R. B. Withers spoke for the New Castle Ministerial association; Charles Anderson, oldest member, spoke for the official board, and a letter of appreciation from the Hebron Tabernacle in Philadelphia, thanking the congregation for relinquishing the services of Rev. Williams, was read by the secretary, Paul Baldwin.

C. L. Hennon, an elder, presented the pastor with a purse, and Rev. Williams responded graciously. Rev. J. R. Turner of Castlewood followed with remarks and led in prayer. The congregation arose and formed a circle. Each person gave a brief word of thanks for the ministry and services given by the pastor and his family. Adjourning to the parsonage, the ladies served lunch. The Williams family served other beautiful farewell gifts awaiting them at the parsonage. Guests then included Rev. and Mrs. J. Henry Boon of the Gospel Tabernacle, New Castle; Rev. H. P. Melcher, former pastor of the Hebron Tabernacle, Philadelphia, and Miss Eismen, missionary to Africa and member of the Philadelphia church.

Packed houses greeted Rev. Williams last Sunday morning and evening when he conducted his final services.

North Beaver Grange Installs On Friday

North Beaver Grange will install its 1939 officers at a meeting in the North Beaver hall Friday evening, January 20. Clifford Douthett of Big Beaver grange will be the installing officer.

A class of candidates received the third and fourth degrees at North Beaver's recent meeting.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Seventh Ward Branch Leads All
Other Branches In City
In Circulation

In a report now being compiled by Miss Alice Sterling, local librarian, it was learned that the Seventh Ward Branch Library this past year lead all of the other branches in the city in circulation.

According to the report, the ward library showed an increase of 22 per cent for the past year. In comparison the Southside library gained only 10 per cent, while the East Side branch showed a decline in circulation of about one per cent.

Miss Sterling states that she believes that the new building and library facilities added at the Mahoningtown library were largely responsible for the large increase in circulation. This is the largest gain made for some time, it was learned.

During the past year the ward library has been in charge of Miss Sarah Mervis, branch librarian, and her assistant, Miss Jane Leicht.

BRIDGETTES MEET AT BROADDUS HOME

Miss Mildred Broadus, Fourth street, was a pleasing hostess to members of the Bridgettes club when they gathered in her home for a regular meeting.

Special guests were Betty Sullivan and Rhea Davis. The party honored the birthday anniversary of Miss Jean Hamilton.

Main diversion of the group was bridge playing. High score prizes were awarded to Geraldine Weiss and Betty Sullivan.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Virginia Drumheller, Newell avenue, in two weeks.

STANDARD BEARERS

Thursday evening, the Standard Bearers class of the Mahoning Methodist church will meet at the home of Patricia Ann Taylor, 112 West Cherry street.

MRS. FLOWER'S GROUP

Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock Mrs. F. E. Flower's section of the Ladies Aid Society will meet in the church.

SIGNAL LIGHT CLASS

Mrs. Ellis Howard, Madison avenue, will be hostess tonight to members of the Signal Light Bible class of the Mahoning Methodist church.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

C. E. Dungan, Newell avenue, is visiting relatives in Cambridge, O.

Mrs. G. G. Horchler, Cherry St., is now able to be out following an illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Tony James, East Cherry street, have returned to their home following a visit with relatives in Pittsburgh.

Miss Elberta Horchler has returned to her home in McKeesrocks following a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Horchler, Cherry St.

Miss Alice McConnell, who was formerly affiliated with St. Francis hospital in Pittsburgh, has returned to her duties at the New Castle hospital.

George Horchler, Jr., Cherry St. and Duke Weaver, North Liberty street, have returned to their homes following a trip to Camp Syring in Forest County.

Virginia Gillev, Wetlich apartments, who is confined to the Jameson Memorial hospital, is reported to be in the same condition with little or no improvement being noted.

NEWS BRIEFS IN WARD DISTRICT

Jack Bretell, city street commissioner, has been keeping his ash trucks busy taking care of the Seventh ward streets as well as those in the uptown district. Local motorists greatly appreciate this work.

It is surprising the small number of accidents that occur on the Mt. Jackson hill. This hill is quite treacherous, and the sharp bend immediately at the foot of the hill adds to the danger in great measure.

The roadway into the city disposal plant is quite narrow, and is built up about 20 feet to prevent its being covered with water. Your correspondent had the misfortune of being behind a city truck one afternoon recently when the truck had a flat tire along this road. There was nothing to do but sit there until the tire was repaired.

Motorists should use a bit of caution when traveling through the Willow Grove section. Many persons walk along the highway here, and it is hard to see a person along the road. As a hint to pedestrians, a small light carried in the hand would be a great safeguard.

The job of re-surfacing the East Cherry street hit sometime ago, was a fine piece of work. To date there has not been one hole or rut appear in the black top surface. This is quite a popular route to Mahoningtown from New Castle.

CHOIR PARTY IS HELD IN CHURCH

For one of their fine festive times members of the choir of the Mahoning Methodist church held a party in the church, Monday evening. Husbands and wives of the members were special guests.

The event was in the form of a turkey dinner, with a delicious menu being served at 6 o'clock. There were places for 40 persons at the table.

A fine program of games was provided by the arrangements committee, following the dinner.

MEETING TONIGHT

Mrs. E. C. Hulbert, Madison avenue, will be hostess to members of the Mahoningtown Garden Club tonight.

GIRL IS LOCATED

GROVE CITY, Jan. 17.—A 19-year-old Rimersburg girl, Mary Mitlgo, is still at the home of an aunt, Mrs. Catherine Bell, here, where she was located four days after she had left home. She has refused to divulge her reason, but declares she will not return home.

The girl, a senior in Rimersburg high school, said she hitch-hiked and walked the 50 miles here. She hopes to get a job as a stenographer.

New Castle High In Beaver Falls For Game Tonight

Will Try To Get Back In Winning Stride In Section Three Race

New Castle High school basketball team will travel to Beaver Falls tonight for a Section Three battle that may leave them as the league leaders when the dust has settled. At the moment New Castle and Ambridge are tied for the league lead, but Ambridge will be idle tonight. The preliminary game in Beaver Falls will start at 7 o'clock and will send the reserve teams of both schools into action.

Beaver Falls has yet to crack into the win column of Section Three, having dropped three straight games, and they are mighty anxious to upset the New Castle team tonight if at all possible. New Castle enjoyed fine success in the league until the other night when the Aliquippa boys came here and caused a few headaches with a startling victory.

Expect Big Crowd
Head Coach Phil Brienbaugh will lead the New Castle team out of town tonight, the departing time being 5:30 o'clock. Twenty young men will probably make the trip. "Schools" Nelson, faculty manager, will accompany the boys on the bus. Despite the fact that Beaver Falls has yet to win a league game, they expect to pack the gym tonight for the New Castle contest.

New Brighton At Ellwood
In another Section Three game tonight New Brighton High will play at Ellwood City, and Butler will be down in Aliquippa to try and upset the Lippemans.

New Castle High Seniors Victors

The New Castle high school Senior A basketball team won from the Butler Senior A team at the Senior high court yesterday by the score of 36 to 22. Farris, Gordon and "Tink" Campbell led the locals in scoring, with Wigton the best for the Butler team.

DON BUDGE OUT IN FRONT AGAIN

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 17.—Don Budge went out in front again today in his see-saw professional tennis series against Ellsworth Vines. Downing his lanky California rival in straight sets 8-6, 6-4, Budge led 5 to 4 in the matches played thus far.

Joe Louis continues his tough training grind to prepare for fight with John Henry Lewis February 25.

Greek Orthodox Five Wins From Mahoning Team

Score Is 21 To 19 In Church League Game, Baptists And Christians Also Win

The Greek Orthodox church basketball team won from the Mahoning M. E. quintet in a sizzling hot battle last night at the "Y" floor in the church league, the score being 21 to 19.

The First Baptist team walloped the First Presbyterians in another league game 34 to 19, and in the opening game on the list the Madison Avenue Christian team went on a scoring spree to trim the St. Vitus team 46 to 19. McCartney, W. Thompson and D. Thompson were the scoring stars.

TWO FAST GAMES FOR K. PULASKIS

There will be two fast basketball games tonight at the K. Pulaski floor with the K. Pulaski Reserves meeting the Greek Orthodox team of the City Church League in the first game at 7:30 o'clock and the K. Pulaski Big Five battling the Schultz Stars of Youngstown in the main game.

The Schultz team come here highly rated in the Eastern Ohio district and will give the locals a fine contest.

Shenango Meets Bessemer Cagers

Leadership Of Section 20 At Stake Tonight On Bessemer Court

Before a crowd expected to tax the capacity of Bessemer high's gymnasium, Shenango township high school's undefeated basketball aggregation faces an eager Bessemer high club in a crucial Section 20 setto tonight.

In league circles, both outfits have spottless records, Shenango having won four tussles while the red and black clad force captured three engagements. The winners take possession of the coveted Section 20 lead. Shenango hurried one of the biggest obstacles recently, dumping a good New Wilmington five. Union, Wampum and East Brook complete the list of victims. Bessemer vanquished East Brook, Mt. Jackson and Wampum.

The rivals loom as two of the most powerful floor combinations in the district. In the Pitzer brothers, Francis and Bob, the East New Castle hoopers have two of the classiest performers in the county. Francis does a neat piece of ball handling as well as grabbing rebounds. His brother is an exceptionally good shot. Bessemer ranks as one of the most well balanced outfits around the district. Hribar, Shoup and DeArment are quite adept on the hardwood.

In the preliminary game, starting at 7, the girls' teams from both schools battle.

The probable starting lineups: Shenango Bessemer
B. Pitzer, f. F. Kurler
O'Neill, f. DeArment
P. Pitzer, c. Zornich
Fredericks, g. Hribar
Dunn, f. Shoup

New Wilmington Upsets Greenville

Score Is 38 To 31 In Game At Greenville High Court, Harmon Stars

New Wilmington High school basketball team for the first time in the past eight years won from Greenville High last night at the Greenville floor 38 to 31, in a sizzling hot contest that found New Wilmington always in the lead at 11-10, 19-18 and 33-29.

Harmon was the top scorer in the game, closely followed by Kochis, Munner and Mercer. The New Wilmington team will play Wampum at New Wilmington on Friday night in a Section 20 game.

Rifle Club Holds Annual Election

The New Castle Rifle Club held its annual election of officers last night at the Cathedral range and Leo W. Hill, who has headed the club for many years, was re-named as president.

George Finley will serve as vice-president and Clarence Van Horn was named as secretary and treasurer. The range officer will be Ernest Patterson. The New Castle rifle team will take on the four positions.

Overnight Sports

(International News Service)
Newspaper ballyhoo is pushing Tony Goleto, the beer guzzler, into a title bout with Joe Louis if he survives preliminary scraps. Forty-five three-year-old brothers are eligible for the $40,000 Hambletonian next August.

Unveiling of plaques of players who have been voted into hall of fame will highlight nationwide celebration of baseball's 100th birthday at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Allan Tolmich enters Milrose games at New York on February 4 with a prediction of repeating his double win of last year's meet in the 60-yard dash and 60-yard high hurdles.

Dick Metz beats E. J. Harrison in all-Chicago playoff for the $5,000 Oakland, Cal. Golf championship. Metz carded a 69 to Harrison's 70.

Fatty Berg, nation's golf champion, takes one stroke lead in first round of 72-hole Augusta women's golf tournament.

Don Budge at Kansas City, Mo., wins the fifth out of nine professional tennis matches played so far in tour with Ellsworth Vines.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Odds and ends...Phil Brienbaugh, commander of the New Castle Red Hurricanes, and Ralph H. Gardner, the ex-faculty manager of athlete, are bridge addicts. Both rank in the upper bracket in town.

"Bill" Klee, assistant coach, does everything that typifies a genuine sportsman. Besides following all sports, Klee loses no time when an opportunity arrives for a fishing or a hunting trip. Emil Gormmes, smooth New Castle Booster cager, is one of New Castle's most talented athletes. Aside from his adeptness on the hardwood, Gormmes is one of the leading golfers and does a nifty piece of molding, drawing and sketching on the side.

Sports chatter...Tonight's crucial Section 20 battle between Bessemer and Shenango township in Bessemer will draw plenty of customers from the city, judging by the interest shown throughout town. That Ellwood City banquet honoring the high school team, Thursday night, will draw a capacity house.

The program prepared by Andy Biddell No. 1 roster, will be a pip. Celebrities on hand will include Bill Kern, Marshall Goldberg, Ray Carnally and "Bo" McMillin. Aside to Biddell: Thanks for the duet.

A dash of this and that...The 1939 official American league schedule has reached this desk. Incidentally, the star game takes place in New York Tuesday, July 11. Does the resignation of Pitt's basketball team from the Eastern Intercollegiate Conference next year mean the beginning of the end of that "de-emphasize business?" Some old time men of the ring claim that a fighter is never as good after an appendectomy as he was before the operation. They offer Fred Apostoli as proof. The February 10 Conn-Apostoli fight should help to solve the question. Don't be surprised if Mike Jacobs dishes out $25,000 for a four-round bout to Pat Comiskey, the current 18-year-old heavyweight sensation. Not even Dempsey received that much for a four-rounder.

The locals will rest until Saturday night when they travel to Sharon to battle the Sharon Malleables. Sunday's attraction here brings the West Middlesex Merchants. The Gersons are scheduled to play the preliminary engagement.

Lawrence County Sportsmen's council will meet at 8 p. m. Friday at West Pittsburg, it was announced today.

Washington high traveled to Campbell, O. yesterday, and won from Campbell Memorial junior high team, 25 to 13, with Lee and Stewart the scoring stars.

At the half the locals were ahead 10 to 9. Toif was best for the losers.

Mahoning Plays Washington High

First Of City Junior High Title Series Will Be At Franklin Court

Mahoning Junior high and George Washington Junior high basketball teams will play the first of the city junior high title series at the Franklin high court Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, it was announced today by Coach Comemeadow of the Seventh ward team.

Franklin high is the defending champ this year. Both Mahoning and Washington have fine teams this year and hope to uncrown the East Siders.

Commissioners To Meet On Thursday

Dewy Williams, president of the Castleswood church basketball league has called for a meeting of the board of commissioners for Thursday night at 7 o'clock at the Shenango High School, prior to the start of the first game on the night's schedule.

The following games will be played Thursday:

Harmony vs. Calvary.
Greenwood vs. Slippery Rock.
Savannah vs. Center Alliance.

Lyceum Floor Game With Boosters Off

Announcement was made today that the New Castle Boosters-Pittsburgh Lyceum basketball game scheduled for this evening, in The Arena, has been postponed until a later date.

The locals will rest until Saturday night when they travel to Sharon to battle the Sharon Malleables. Sunday's attraction here brings the West Middlesex Merchants. The Gersons are scheduled to play the preliminary engagement.

Lawrence County Sportsmen's council will meet at 8 p. m. Friday at West Pittsburg, it was announced today.

Washington high traveled to Campbell, O. yesterday, and won from Campbell Memorial junior high team, 25 to 13, with Lee and Stewart the scoring stars.

At the half the locals were ahead 10 to 9. Toif was best for the losers.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Plymouth, the home town of Governor Arthur H. James, is on the Susquehanna river, between Wilkes-Barre and Nanticoke, in Luzerne county. It has been our pleasure to swim beneath the railroad bridge at Plymouth and to have also played football on Plymouth fields.

We recall also that one of the best boxing matches we ever witnessed in Landmesser's hall (now razed) found Tommy Morrissey of Plymouth opposed to Tommy Price of Nanticoke. Price was a left-hander, the first southpaw boxer we ever witnessed in action.

Later on came Tommy O'Toole, the bantamweight of Plymouth, who was managed by "Fakir" James of Plymouth. So far as we know there is no relationship between Governor James and O'Toole's manager. The latter is now a hotelman in Plymouth.

In O'Toole's day he was regarded by the late Billy Rocap of the Philadelphia Ledger and other sport writers of Philadelphia as one of the best fighters in his division. He had many encounters with the good Billy Bevan of Newton, whom we brought here to box Yankee Gilbert. We yet remember the battle cry of the Plymouth fans whenever one of Plymouth's sons was engaged in any athletic event. As soon as the athlete made his appearance, especially in the ring, they would rise and in unison shout: "Shawnee against the world!"

Those were the days prior to James district attorney in Luzerne county. They were in the days after Tommy Quigley had left an active role as a fighter, likewise Ward, and Tommy became a promoter. Of recent years Quigley has not been promoting bouts.

From that district came many good athletes. For instance we recall when our brother participated in one of the first long distance foot races ever staged. A chap by the name of Kilcoyne, South Wilkes-Barre, staged the long grind in the Plymouth armory. It was a 12-hour, go as you please.

Hoskins finished first, Ramsey, a colored lad second, a Polish chap from near Pottsville third and our brother, Nate, fourth. Some of the participants in that race had competed against some of the greatest in the country, including the neer to be forgotten Indian, Tom Longboat.

From that district also came Al Dewey, Kid Wagner and the O'Leary boys (who fought as Jackie Britton and Tom O'Leary, Cleveland). Battling Gates also came from that section, likewise Frankie Burke, Johnny Riley, Joe Burke, Bert O'Donnell, Rubber Gibbons et al.

Prior to their time was Charlie Burke and harkening back farther Andy Ruddy, long dead. It was a region known to some of our New Castle residents, one for instance being Jimmie Dine. In his pre-fight days he was a foot racer.

Dime knew Mike Bowen and other sportsmen of the east and our first sight of Jimmie was when he ran in a quarter mile race at Dan Souci (formerly Hanover) park, near Lee Park, which is across the river a few miles from Plymouth.

Battling Terry fought twice in that section, Wilkes-Barre, drawing with Battling Gates and losing to Al Dewey. Johnny Fletcher fought against Steve Latzo in Wilkes-Barre. Steve's brother Pete decrowned Mickie Walker years later.

Tom McMahon has been in that section, enroute to and from his fight with Battling Levinsky in Scranton, likewise George Chip, who was reared in Providence, only a short distance from Scranton. He fought Kid Wagner of that section twice, losing and winning.

Another who knows almost every foot of that section, above the ground or beneath, in a mine, is John Gibbons, watchman for the Pennsylvania Power company at West Pittsburg. John hails from Pringle Hill. He formerly was a state cop. His brother Walter now is a P. M. P. fire marshal.

Billy Williams, Sr., of Etna street also knew every foot of ground in Plymouth, he once having informed us he left Plymouth to go to Danville prior to his coming here. No doubt there are many ex-coal miners here who know Plymouth and environs like a book.

It is dollars to doughnuts that everyone able to leave Plymouth and vicinity today is in Harrisburg where Plymouth's home town boy was inaugurated as the governor of Pennsylvania, it having been estimated that 100,000 crowded into the state capital.

There was a time in Pennsylvania when it was illegal to participate in what then was termed a "prize fight." An evidence of this was clipped here recently from the Meadville Tribune which says: "Jimmy Dime and Mike Farager will get a warm reception if they ever strike Mercer county again, as charges of prize-fighting have been made against them by Constable Ed. Powell of West Middlesex and the grand jury has returned a true bill against both of them." This item was carried in the Tribune of January 14, 1895. We recall when it was customary to sneak into a barn or fire-house and drag the equipment to the side then pitch the ring and let the boys go to it with all cheers and applause ordered eliminated. Jimmie Dunn once told us of fighting in Lowellville and of trying to escape in a buggy and of being caught by the law before he could reach the Pennsylvania line. We also recall making out the articles for the Burke-O'Donnell fight fought near Pittston, and the law offering a reward the next day for the participants thereof. Nowadays boxing is conducted legally and is patronized by people who years ago would have blushed if boxing was mentioned in their presence.

Dick Metz of Chicago, won the $5,000 Oakland Open golf tournament Monday. He beat E. J. Harrison of Oak Park, Ill., by one stroke in an 18-hole playoff of their first place tie. Metz shot a 69, one under par, while Harrison had an even par 70. Metz won $12,000.

Mrs. Ida Jane Groat, 76, who ruled over women trapshooters as champion for a score of years died at Long Beach, Calif., yesterday. She had been ill one month. Mrs. Groat won the championship of the 1932 Olympic games in Los Angeles. In 1931, she broke 99 of 100 clay targets in an exhibition.

The National three cushion billiards championship tournament got under way yesterday in Chicago. Jay N. Bozeman of Vallejo, Cal., broke a tie in the forty-second inning with a run of four to defeat Tiff Denton of Kansas City, 50 to 45.

Loretta Young Does Not Desert Friend In Trouble

By MILTON HARKER

(Copyright 1939)

(International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17.—If Loretta Young is upset over the fanfare given her romance with William B. Buckner, Jr., New York broker under investigation on mail fraud charges, she is hiding her sorrow well.

Always one of the happiest stars when at work, she is more exuberant than ever in her role in "Alexander Graham Bell" at 20th Century-Fox.

As an example—she is working in a scene with her sisters, Georgianna and Pollyann, in which they come out of a door on an upper landing and run down a flight of stairs. They do it once to the complete satisfaction of Director Irving Cummings except that Pollyann loses her hair ribbons. That's not in the script so they have to do it over again.

As they reach the top of the stairs, Loretta looks down and, with a twinkle in her eye, says to Cummings: "Don't you think this scene would be better if I slid down the bannister? I'd really love to do it."

Cummings replies: "Remember you're a young lady now, Shirley Temple Young, so you had better come down like a young lady."

And Loretta retorts: "If you think young ladies like me don't slide down the bannister once in a while at home, you're crazy."

There is one thing for which you have to give Loretta much credit. When the government accused Buckner, she stood by him. She appeared with him publicly and admitted she liked him.

A friend in need is a friend indeed, particularly in Hollywood, where all you generally need is a whiff of trouble to get you left as completely alone as last year's pictures.

If this reporter could keep his mind on mathematical instead of Hollywood's more obvious figures he could tell you how many cans of paint were used for the biggest backdrop in this town's history. It's 800 feet long and 100 feet high. It surrounds three sides of a Scottish moor created on Darryl Zanuck's back lot for "the hound of the baskervilles."

The moor is completely covered by canvas so an elaborate network of pipes can pour fog all over the landscape while the cast hunts the hound. In reality the hound is a very gentle Great Dane named Nellie which likes to eat chocolate drops. Nellie is so gentle-looking, in fact, the studio has had a mask built for her face so you'll be able to get real shivers.

At the moment your correspondent arrives Wreny Barrie is out on the moor being terrified by a cry which sounds like a banshee. (Any hound that would nip Wendy is a dirty dog indeed) to give you the low-down, it isn't Nellie bansheeing at all. It's a very accomplished gentleman who, at a price, will give you anything in sound from an airplane motor to the Dodo bird calling its young.

State Evangelist Heard By Pastors

Rev. R. E. Jope Guest Speaker
At Monday's Meeting
Of Ministerium

Rev. R. E. Jope, state evangelist for Disciples of Christ, was the speaker Monday at the New Castle Ministerial association meeting in the First Presbyterian church. His topic was "Trends in Evangelism," followed by a discussion in which the various clergymen took part.

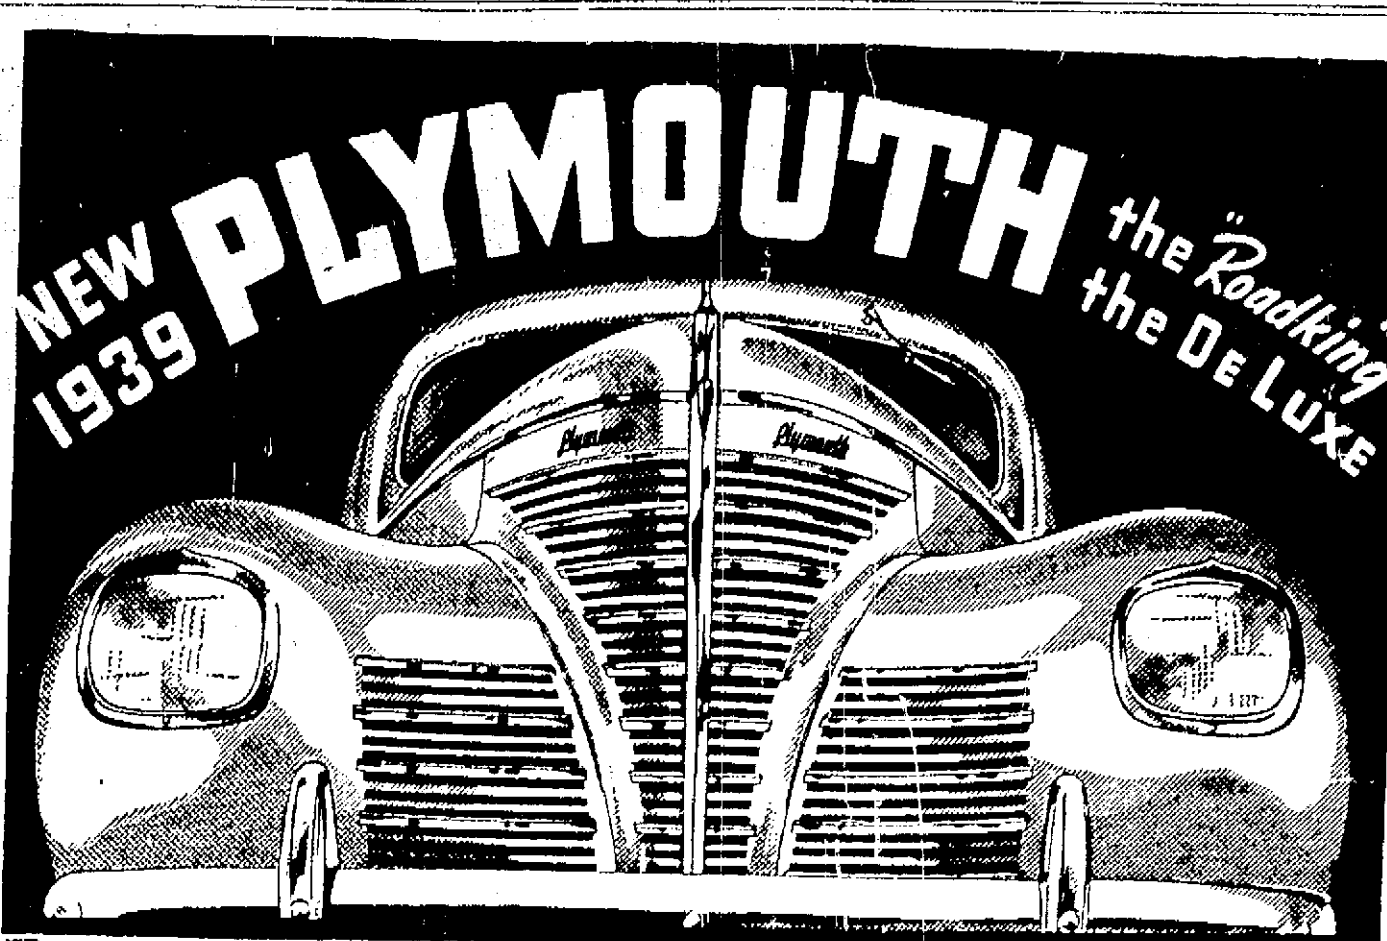

The speaker had been presented by Rev. Thomas B. Shearer, pastor of the Central Christian church, where Rev. Jope has been heard in a series of meetings through the past several weeks.

Prior to the address, devotions had been conducted by the Rev. W. E. Bartlett, district superintendent for the Methodist Episcopal church. L. L. Johnson and H. A. McGurdy, Rev. P. C. Pearson introduced a new member of the body, Rev. Charles Burton, who has taken over the St. Andrew's Episcopal pastorate. Announcement was made that religious books will be the topic of tomorrow's library broadcast. Rev. William V. McLean reminded the body of the Institute on International Understanding to be sponsored by the Rotary club.

A vote of condolence was voted to be sent to Dr. J. A. Cousins, whose mother was buried yesterday.

On January 20 the speaker will be Dr. G. S. Bennett. His subject, "The New Set-Up of Public Assistance."

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEKALL

Here is a little suggestion... It has been worked in other towns with great deal of success. When the police are cruising around the city... why couldn't they stop in at homes where the snow has not been cleaned off the walks... merely suggesting that the snow should be cleaned off... but we suppose there is not much they could do if the snow wasn't cleaned off but we have been thinking of making up a list of such people and making them known to the thoughtful citizens of New Castle. We can see very little excuse for not cleaning off the snow and ice. And folks it's not always the fellow that has a hard time making a living that neglects this task. Look around and you will see what we mean.

The leaders of the membership campaign of the Junior Chamber of Commerce report that the score is 39 to 39... the campaign will continue to the last of the month by order of the President... so they can see which side really won the contest... remember their is a dinner at stake for the prize. Lead on boys.

Did you read that little article in last night's paper concerning the amount of money in New Castle... and how many people paid income tax. We are above the average city and folks we are going to keep above the average. New Castle is going forward... we must all believe that.

The following might be well thought out by us all:

"If you are tempted to reveal
A tale someone to you has told
About another, make it pass
Before you speak, three gates of gold.

"Three narrow gates: First 'Is it true?'
Then 'Is it needful?' In your mind
Give truthful answers, and the next
Is last and narrowest—'Is it kind?'"

"And it to reach your lips at last
It passes through these gateways three,
Then you may tell the tale, nor fear
What the result of speech may be."

Little New Deal Fades In State

Four Troubled Years Of Democratic Sway In Pennsylvania At End

PARTY DISSENTION
FACTOR IN DEFEAT

By TOM R. BRISLIN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Jan. 17.—Pennsylvania's little new deal" democracy, headed by retiring Gov. George H. Earle today fades from its pinnacle, blasted from political control of the commonwealth by re-elected Republicanism. Behind it lay four troubled years, four years that witnessed the stormiest period the Democratic party has ever known in the Keystone state.

It was a period that intermittently placed Governor Earle in the limelight as his party's choice for the presidency in 1940 only to finally grind whatever political ambitions he may have cherished into the earth by his overwhelming defeat for the United States senate by Sen. James J. Davis, Republican.

Democrats Weaken

It was a period, too, that saw the Democratic party, internally the strongest in the state's history when it grasped the political reins in 1935, weaken under pressure of party dissension and eventually relinquish the governmental helm once again to the G. O. P.

A conflict unprecedented in Pennsylvania history came to the fore within the past year between the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the state government. The Dauphin county and state supreme courts frequently invalidated Democratic inspired legislation.

Consequently, the administration with two of its major laws declared unconstitutional and attempts to stave off a grand jury investigation of its leaders spiked, accused the judiciary of "political-mindedness." Governor Earle, in his final message to the legislature, deplored the "encroachment" of the judiciary on the "government of a free people."

The courts ruled unconstitutional

the 44-hour work law and the graduated income tax law—both claimed by Democrats to have been "test measures." The "little N. R. A." for the used car industry was likewise voided, an oil industry investigating commission was dissolved, and Democratic legislation regulating and revising grand jury procedure—an attempt to throttle the probe of an alleged "system of crime"—was invalidated.

The Earle administration, however, managed to write into law measures guaranteeing teacher tenure; legislation creating the general state authority-launching a widespread institutional building program; housing authorities; a new public assistance set-up; financing by tax anticipation notes; 44-hour week and minimum wage law for women; an occupational disease compensation act, and others.

Police Units Merged

During the Earle regime, too, came the merger of the state's two police units—the highway patrol and the state police—into a state motor police unit. There is talk that the Republicans will again separate the police units.

A workmen's compensation act was enacted as was an unemployment compensation act giving millions in benefits to unemployed workers. Governor Earle warned against tampering with either measure "if the general welfare is to be preserved."

Creation of a public utility commission in place of the old public service commission, a highway safety campaign that within the past year alone resulted in 1,000 lives being saved, repayment of a $36,000,000 Republican deficit, and establishment of a labor relations board all may be credited to the out-going Democrats.

Dissention Creeps In

But into the midst of all this legislation crept dissention. Former Attorney General Charles J. Marshall was fired when he refused to disclose information concerning alleged graft in a state government to any save a grand jury. Two highway engineers in Erie county were dismissed in a "gravel scandal." Charges of "snake-down" shook the department of labor and industry in an investigation of the undertaking board.

Former public assistance secretary Karl De Schweinitz resigned because of a squabble over relief. Maj. Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of state police under the Republicans and now named commissioner of state motor police, resigned when he was subordinated in authority to Admiral Percy W. Foote at the time of the merger of the police units.

Carry Over Problems

Carry-over problems that immediately face the Republican administration of incoming governor Arthur H. James include those of relief and rehabilitation of the distressed anthracite coal industry.

Both problems proved almost insurmountable to the Democrats, despite the expenditure of millions in relief and the appointment of commissions seeking to establish remedies for the coal situation.

The Earle administration goes out of office leaving an estimated $40,000,000 relief deficit, despite a recent appropriation of $25,000,000 by the special session of the legislature. The 1939 session moved to meet the emergency by appropriating $34,000,000 from special state funds.

Legislation that would give the administration limited ownership of the anthracite mines failed to survive more than the first reading.

If people don't care what happens to America so long as they get theirs, we can't help it. But why elect them to congress?
